

Dear FCC:

You must NOT eliminate the ban on cross-ownership. The rule protects the public by ensuring that all views have access to the press. If you eliminate the ban, you will make sure that only the owners of media conglomerates will be able to make their views known. I don't want to read, see, or hear the views of Rupert Murdoch on every type of news media. I want to have access to a range of views so that I can weigh each and come to my own decision.

Eliminating the cross-ownership ban would be contrary to the interests of free speech and the First Amendment.
